About the Ride

Registration

The first annual Ride for Literacy is a two-day ride in Madison County, a renowned cycling paradise with some of the most historic, scenic and safe roads in Upstate New York. One-day riders and teams of two or more cyclists are also welcome.

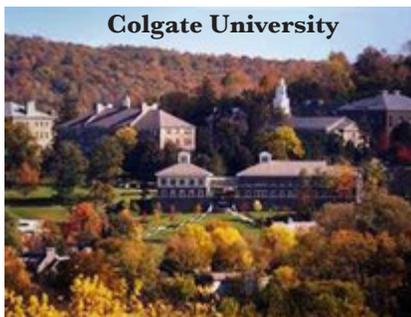

This two-day ride covers 35-40 miles each day, with an optional 16-mile loop at the end of day one. The ride begins at the Erie Canal museum in Chittenango (7010 Lakeport Rd.) at 9:00 am on Saturday, June 15, stops for lunch at the Cazenovia Country Club, and day one ends by 4:00 pm at Colgate University, arguably one of America's most beautiful campuses.

All meals and lodging are included in the ride. Saturday night's BBQ features refreshments and entertainment donated by Good Nature Brewing and Tommy Hoe and the Barncats. After a night on the town in historic Hamilton and overnight lodging at Colgate University, riders will enjoy a hearty breakfast and depart Hamilton at 9:00 am on Sunday, June 16 for day two of the ride. After lunch in Peterboro—an Underground Railroad stop and the home of abolitionist Gerrit Smith—the ride returns to Chittenango by 4:00 pm.

Along the way, cyclists will enjoy full support with water stops and a sag vehicle as they follow roads and turns described on daily cue sheets and brightly marked on the pavement. It is a ride—not a race—that cyclists of all levels can accomplish.

Riders are encouraged to raise as much as possible to support the literacy cause. The top individual fundraiser and fundraising team will receive awards for their support.
